Lau

Aidan O'Rourke (fiddle), Kris Drever(guitar/vocal)
Martin Green (piano accordion).

One of the most exciting acts to hit the scene in years, uniting three of the finest innovative talents in Scotland today. Individually hugely skilled and esteemed they already look set to storm festivals across the world. Their debut album Lightweights and Gentlemen was released earlier this year to lyrical reviews:

'This is, in March, album of the year.' Sarah Coxon, fRoots

'For once you can believe the hype' The Scotsman

Traditional music as you've never heard it – gentle/rip-roaring, slow/breakneck white-knuckle jazz-strewn folk. Don't miss it!

Simon Thoumire - The Scots Fiddle Concerto

Aidan O'Rourke, Jenna Reid, Gordon Gunn, Mairi Campbell, Patsy Reid

This stellar line-up of fiddlers and accompanists drawn from the traditional music world will play solos and duets including the world première of

The Scots Fiddle Concerto commissioned by the Scottish Arts Council.

The concerto, for solo fiddle and ensemble, was written to give a platform for highly talented traditional musicians to show their virtuoso skills within this format. Simon's work in this area is exceptional and has been described by Rob Adams in The Herald as 'delicate lyricism...commanding in its execution.' - and by Sue Wilson in The Scotsman as 'brimming with wit, mischief and virtuosity...nothing short of electrifying.'

This will be a historic occasion not to be missed!

The ensemble comprises: 2 fiddles, piano, guitar and flute. The soloist for the Scots Fiddle Concerto is Gordon Gunn.
